USI Pursuit CoE | November 2024

Hi all,

We are delighted to bring you the next edition of 'The intelligence update'.

In the spirit of the festivities, this edition will have a special section covering various brands that have (successfully/unsuccessfully) leveraged AI in their Diwali and Halloween campaigns over the years.

AI festive campaigns
Industry updates	Gen AI in Pursuits	Upcoming events

Technology with traditions – see how brands leveraged AI to join the festive band wagon – some made impact by pushing the creative boundary, some got frowns for pushing it too much!

#NotJustACadburyAd Campaign (2021-22)

Named as one of the most-awarded effectiveness campaigns in WARC rankings, #NotJustACadbury Campaign by Ogilvy and Wavemaker, featuring Shah Rukh Khan has been one of the most impactful AI campaigns in recent times – supporting local businesses that were hit by COVID19 by creating hyper-personalisation using AI. As a result, a total of personalised 130,000 ads were created featuring 2,000 stores with the celebrity as their brand ambassador. Read more here.

Horrors of A.I.lloween by Burger King (2023)

A quirky dig at AI by Burger King France in their last year's Halloween campaign. Full story here.

AI-generated Diwali wish cards by Coca Cola (2023)

Coca cola's clever way of making the brand part of the festivities by letting people create personalised wish cards for their loved ones. Click here to read more.

Instagram's AI-powered Halloween features (2024)

Check how the color of your message containing the word 'Halloween' changes on Instagram along with many other interactive features (available till November 3). More details here.

Backlash against Transport for Ireland's Halloween ads (2024)

The transport ads that contained AI-generated images didn't sit well with the commuters! Read more here.

INDUSTRY UPDATES

Adobe MAX 2024 highlights

The creative event of the year underscored the influence of AI on creative, digital, and marketing professions along with various updates on their traditional softwares including AI in video space. Check the major announcements from Adobe MAX here. For a deeper dive into the topics, check out the on-demand recordings here.

OpenAI to launch GPT 5 aka Orion soon

Read more about Orion here – the model which is claimed to be their most powerful, closest-to-AGI LLM yet.

OpenAI's Whisper hit with complaints

The transcription tool used in hospitals invents things no one ever said, researchers claim. Read the story here.

Midjourney launches AI image editor

Midjourney's new 'Edit' feature allows users to upload any image and edit specific sections using AI. Additionally, they can change the image's style and texture, transforming it from its original form into something entirely different. Click here for the story.

GEN AI IN PURSUITS

Powering the proposal design with Firefly – Prem

While designing the concept for an automobile client, I initially used generic automobile images that, later I felt, didn't represent the brand well and lacked the sense of relatability. Considering we couldn't use the client's actual product imagery, I turned to firefly to create the product which is very close yet different in look and feel. Leveraging the references and playing with the styles features of Firefly, I was able to generate high-quality, realistic car visuals that closely matched with the original ones. Firefly enabled me to achieve the desired output with very basic level of prompting.
