USI Pursuit CoE | May 2025

Hi all,

We are excited to present you the May edition of 'The Intelligence Update'.

The issue aims at covering the fascinating updates from the world of Gen AI - from the viral Ghibli trend to Adobe's update (and our designers getting some really cool features in Premiere Pro for Gen AI video production :D).

GEN AI IN PURSUITS

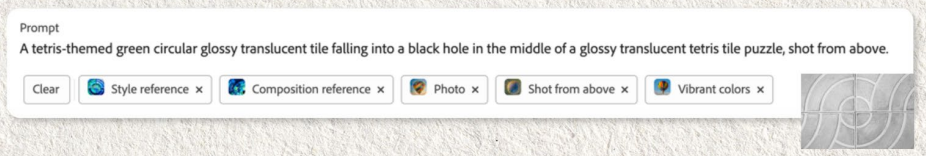

THE PLAYSTUDIOS STORY

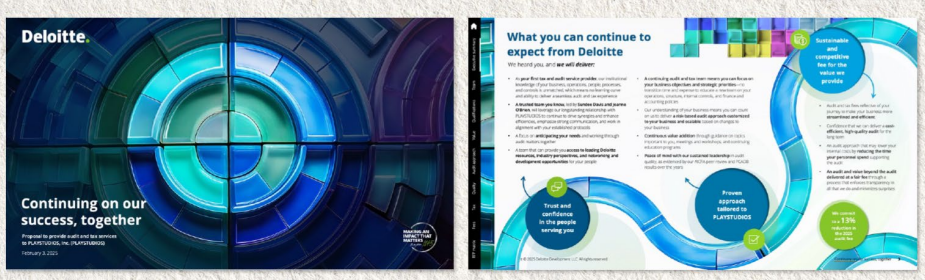

SRAVYA SUDHA

Conveying the idea of a perfect fit by building a custom visual strategy using Firefly.

One of the most prominent and widely-recognized games from Playstudios' extensive suite of offerings is Tetris—yes, the same Tetris that you played growing up. Inspired by this iconic puzzle game featuring colorful tetrominoes that are strategically stacked next to each other, I proposed using similar geometric forms, albeit modified with curves so they are more representative of our brand—to visually convey the idea of Deloitte being the "perfect fit".

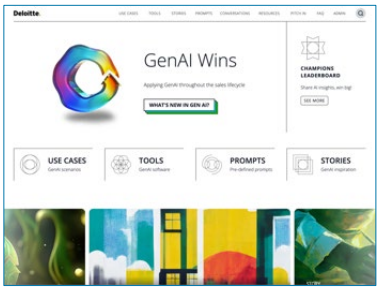

This meant generating custom images from scratch, so I turned to Firefly, and generated multiple compositions—using a stock image of a pavement & custom line art created on illustrator as structure references, and images from the Firefly gallery as style references.

I went on to refine them further using generative fill, adding vector elements on top of the images, and cropping out individual tiles, as required. The resulting colorful tetromino sequences were then sprinkled as recurring elements throughout the deck, thematically tying it all together.

Also, we have received some of the most recent Gen AI video features in Premiere Pro on our official licenses.

Keep experimenting. Keep exploring.
